CONTENTS

The Disks of Spiral Galaxies 1

D. J. ADAMS, Department of Astronomy, University of Leicester, U.K.

RR Lyrae Stars as Distance Indicators 17

R. F. JAMESON, Department of Astronomy, University of Leicester, U.K.

Statistical Methods of Stellar Polarimetry 27

D. CLARKE* and B. G. STEWART, University Observatory, Glasgow, U.K.; School of Electronic and Electrical Engineering, Robert Gordon's Institute of Technology, Aberdeen, U.K.

The Origin of Comets 53

M. E. BAILEY,* S. V. M. CLUBE and W. M. NAPIER, Department of Astronomy, The University, Manchester, U.K.; Department of Astrophysics, Oxford, U.K.; Royal Observatory, Blackford Hill, Edinburgh, U.K.*

Henry Rowland and Astronomical Spectroscopy: Celebration of the 100th Anniversary of Henry Rowland's Introduction of the Concave Diffraction Grating 115

Star Names — Origins and Misconceptions 237

G. HEUTER, 1 East View, Rogers Lane, Gwersyllt, Clwyd, U.K.

Polarimetry of Cool Giants and Supergiants 253

H. E. SCHWARZ, Mullard Space Science Laboratory, Surrey, U.K.

New Ideas in Cosmology and New Solutions in General Relativity 281

P. S. WESSON, Department of Physics, University of Waterloo, Canada

A Large-Scale Atlas of the Milky Way Dark Clouds 291

J. V. FEITZINGER and J. A. STÜWE, Astronomical Institute, Ruhr-University Bochum, F.R.G.

An Analysis of the Light Changes of Eclipsing Variables in the Frequency-Domain: Practical Aspects 295

Z. KOPAL, Department of Astronomy, University of Manchester, U.K.